To the City Council re: Agenda 12

Tonight's agenda is putting the cart before the horse.

The planned June 18 meeting should show the Council if there is adequate citizen support for the bond issue for the Royal Theater Rejuvenation.

If so, THEN the Council should vote to go ahead to process the bond for the ballot.

If the bond is placed on the ballot and does not pass, a lot of money and staff time will have been wasted.

Say WHOA to the horse for 7 days.

Subject: Bond Measure on Agenda

Greetings Council and Staff, I am unable to attend the meeting on June 11th but wanted to share my lack of support for the bond measure being placed on the upcoming ballot. With the dissolution of Los Amigos de Guadalupe and no clear report as to how that transpired and Tom Bradberry's history with the City, I cannot support this increase to the citizens. Based on what I've seen for this project the city will need to really look hard at working within the parameters that they've been given in order to make this project happen. I do not think the citizens will support this on the ballot.

Sincerely,
Megan Lizalde

To Whom it may concern:, I oppose the theatre bond proposal. Don't need 30 years of taxes or a theatre. We can't afford it. Anthony Bush, 4364 Herado Dr, Guadalupe, CA 93434

Subject: Theatre Bond

To Whom It May Concern: I oppose the proposed bond to fund the theatre project in the downtown center. We do not need additional taxes for life on a project that the citizens of Guadalupe do not want or need. There are other ways to finance it thru private equity, fund raising, donations by all the very large agriculture companies doing business in Guadalupe. Find another way to fund it, not on our backs.
